NUTRITIONAL BIOCHEMISTRY | SUPPLEMENTS | SCIENTIFIC CONTENT

Functional-medicine pharmacist whose range spans the interconnected body: how the gut, immune, nervous, endocrine, and metabolic systems influence one another, and how medications, nutrition, and supplements act across them. Led development and scaling of a private-label dietary supplement line, from formulation, sourcing, and Certificate of Analysis (COA) review to Supplement Facts, DSHEA structure/function claims, and the FDA disclaimer. Reads functional and conventional labs as one connected picture, grounded in nutritional biochemistry and drug-nutrient safety.
