Why Deborah Fits Content and Health Tech Roles

Deborah is a registered pharmacist with 25+ years in pharmacy and healthcare. Her range spans the interconnected body: how the gut, immune, nervous, endocrine, and metabolic systems influence one another, and how medications, nutrition, and supplements act across them. She critically evaluates evidence, validates content before use, and directs agentic AI workflows with every output held to a primary-source standard.

Typical Responsibilities: How Deborah Delivers

EVIDENCE, ACCURACY, AND CONTENT

Critically evaluate the clinical literature

DIRECT EVIDENCE

Graded each claim as established, plausible, or speculative, weighing dose, form, population, and outcome in the PubMed literature, and presented cited, staged plans for complex cases.

Write and review clinical content

DIRECT EVIDENCE

Developed protocol guides and education for public, practitioner, and patient audiences. Her published review of her own probiotic sheet kept 5 claims, rewrote 8, and removed 7 to a label standard.

Medical and scientific education

DIRECT EVIDENCE

Led three twice-monthly mentorship cohorts for MDs, DOs, and NPs; built national clinician training; and presented for the Personalized Lifestyle Medicine Institute with Drs. Bland and Lustig.

CLINICAL AI, DATA, AND PARTNERSHIPS

Apply generative AI responsibly

EXCEEDS REQUIREMENT

Builds with AI, not just uses it: prototyped an AI-assisted lab-trend dashboard with practitioner review before any change, and directs Claude Code workflows under written standards with every fact checked.

Outcomes and real-world data

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

Coordinated the integration of outside lab data into the Elation EHR and used lab results and reported symptoms to recommend therapy changes.

Work with clinical and business partners

DIRECT EVIDENCE

Led cross-functional projects from concept through rollout and represented the practice's needs to Elation's technical team.

CONTENT AND HEALTH TECH

Common Qualifications: Met and Exceeded

PharmD or an equivalent pharmacy degree, with active licensure	DIRECT EVIDENCE Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, the standard entry-level pharmacist degree before the national PharmD transition, plus an active North Carolina RPh license (#14013, issued under Deborah M. Allen).
Five or more years of clinical practice	EXCEEDS REQUIREMENT More than 25 years in pharmacy and healthcare against the five required, including 15 in high-volume pharmacy practice with daily patient care.
Medical writing or content portfolio	DIRECT EVIDENCE Published work samples at deborahburkeallen.github.io/recruiters.html: two claims reviews (probiotic and omega-3) and four PubMed-verified science-education decks, backed by a decade of patient, practitioner, and public education.
AI tools and new technology	EXCEEDS REQUIREMENT Well beyond familiarity: uses Claude and Claude Code, ChatGPT, Gemini, Perplexity, and Copilot; directs AI coding agents with written specifications; and led the Elation EHR migration and Hint Health adoption.

What Deborah Brings to Your Team

- Clinical accuracy from 25+ years in pharmacy and healthcare.
- Range across the interconnected body, from medications to nutrition and supplements.
- Content that translates complex evidence clearly for any audience.
- Practical, verified use of AI to work faster without losing accuracy.
- A teacher's instinct, proven with physicians, families, and national audiences.

Career Highlights

Label approval
gave final approval on private-label supplement labels, making sure product names did not mislead

Formula restored
she documented a reformulation's likely loss of efficacy, and the manufacturer brought back the original formula
